The majestic Snoqualmie River Valley, situated between Seattle and the foothills of the Cascade Mountains, is steeped in heritage, rugged and pastoral beauty, arts, and culture. Farmers take advantage of the fertile soils in the lower valley, supplying fresh produce to restaurants and farmer’s markets. Premiere outdoor activities abound, including hiking, mountain biking and rock climbing.

Premiere outdoor activities abound, including hiking, mountain biking and rock climbing.

The Valley’s small towns —Duvall, Carnation, Fall City, Snoqualmie and North Bend— retain a strong main-street heritage populated with unique stores and restaurants, but maintain a deep connection to the forests and farms just beyond the city limits. Slow down, breathe deep, and enjoy all that the Snoqualmie Valley has to offer!
The picturesque City of North Bend sits in the shadow of the iconic Mt Si. This small town is a paradise for outdoor enthusiasts, just a step away from hundreds of miles of hiking and mountain biking trails, as well as destinations for kayaking and rock climbing. Its historic downtown includes unique shops and restaurants that welcome all who are coming off the trail!

CARNATION

The scenic City of Carnation is situated between the Snoqualmie and Tolt Rivers, and flanked by parks and farms that create a small town agricultural feel. The 574-acre Tolt-MacDonald Park offers camping and hiking by the river, and nearby farms offer u-pick berries in the summer, pumpkin patches in the fall and u-cut Christmas trees in the winter. The historic downtown has fun, unique shops and eateries that are very welcoming to visitors!

SNOQUALMIE

Best known for beautiful Snoqualmie Falls, the City of Snoqualmie is a small town with many historic attractions including Snoqualmie Valley Railroad excursions. Its eclectic stores, art venues, and restaurants offer something for everyone, including a family-friendly brewery. More than 30 miles of trails allow for walking, hiking, biking, and horse riding. Picnic spots include Railroad Park and along the river at Sandy Cove.

FALL CITY

Just downstream of the Snoqualmie Falls is the historic town of Fall City nestled between the Snoqualmie and Raging Rivers. Fall City has a thriving art scene and offers many unique attractions, including a downtown sculpture walk, tree house lodging and a theater in the woods!

DUVALL

The beautiful City of Duvall is at the northern most point of the Snoqualmie Valley Trail. Duvall is surrounded by scenic farms that produce artisan cheese, gourmet mushrooms, and heritage pork. It’s also known for its artistic flair and charming main street that provides opportunity for viewing art as well as many unique shops and restaurants!

NORTH BEND

The picturesque City of North Bend sits in the shadow of the iconic Mt Si. This small town is a paradise for outdoor enthusiasts, just a step away from hundreds of miles of hiking and mountain biking trails, as well as destinations for kayaking and rock climbing. Its historic downtown includes unique shops and restaurants that welcome all who are coming off the trail!
